

GUIDE TO CHOOSING THE RIGHT TV LIFT CABINET

USE CASE

Where will you be using your TV Lift Cabinet?

The first question to ask is what room you want the TV lift cabinet to be placed. The most common locations to place a TV lift cabinet are bedrooms, living rooms, dens, or even between two adjacent rooms.

Room	TV Lift Cabinet Type
Bedroom	TV Bed or TV Lift Cabinet
Living Room	Large TV Lift Cabinet
Den	Freestanding TV Lift Cabinet
Between Rooms	Freestanding TV Lift Cabinet

Key Tip
 If you're considering a piece of TV lift furniture for your bedroom, check out a TV Bed! They are often the best bedroom-TV-Lift solution.

MECHANISM

How does your TV Lift need to function?

There are 2 major types of TV lift mechanisms: Swiveling and Non-swiveling.

Non-Swiveling

- ✓ Ideal for placement against a wall.
- ✓ Less costly than swiveling mechanisms.
- ✓ Hinging top or "hat" top available

Swiveling

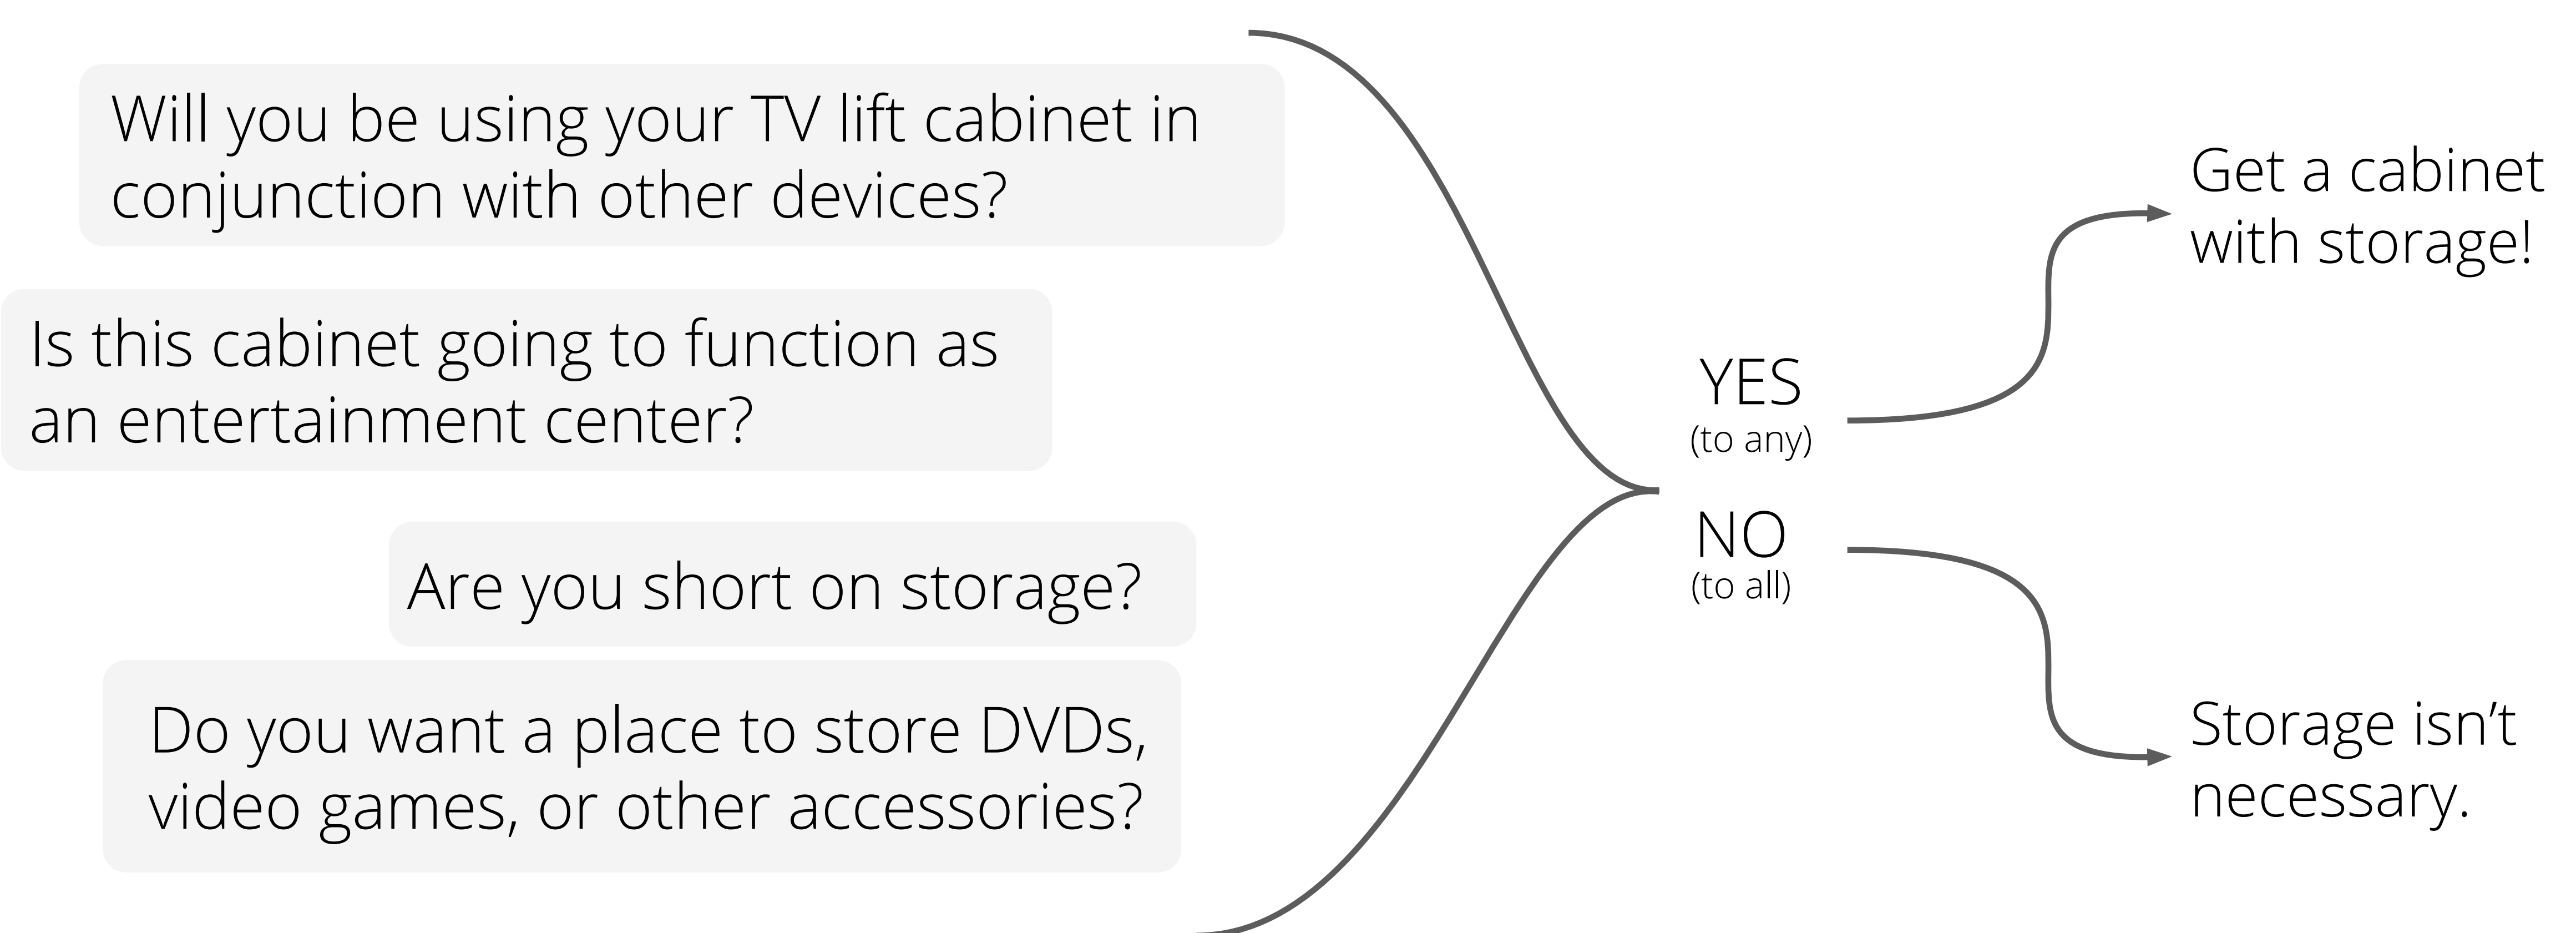

- ✓ Ideal for placement away from a wall, visible on both sides.
- ✓ More costly than non-swiveling mechanisms.
- ✓ Only the "hat" top available.

i What is the difference between a hinging top and a hat top?
Hinging tops swing open on a set of hinges; pushed by the rising TV lift mechanism.
Hat tops stay flat on top of the TV while it raises and lowers.

STORAGE

Does your TV lift cabinet need storage?

TV Lift Cabinets are built in two ways, with and without added storage. This storage can come in the form of drawers, doors, or even hidden storage spaces.

OTHER QUESTIONS?

Visit our website at www.wildwoodtvliftfurniture.com or give our team of TV Lift Furniture experts a call at (801) 901-8249 and we'd be happy to help answer any further questions.